Details of Incident: On ~~July 15~~ Thursday, July 15th

My sister Mia and I were walking two of our dogs, Miso and Coco. As we walked we got stopped near ~~an area~~ their house (across the road). I can not fully describe all the details of the house, but I remember a black garage (If I was to ~~show~~ go there again ~~but~~ I would be able to point out which house it is.)

As we were stopped there for a moment, I did not realize the big, light brown poodle across the road, I had only seen it when it was getting to the sidewalk we were on. It approached us and I assumed it was friendly, but then it picked up Coco and started to swing her violently from side to side. At this time Coco was crying while she was being swung. In attempt to pick up Miso I notice the owner had already made it outside, he saw it happen, and a truck would then also pull up. The driver of the car looked to be an adult, male and was skinny. After the poodle dropped Coco, only due to noticing its owner, who did not call out to it while it swung Coco, I told my sister to get home.

My brother had saw this happen while he was biking -

-towards us. After the fact I told my sister to go home I stood there with my brother, I wanted an apology from the owner who is an older man who had a round stomach. I wanted the apology because both of my dogs were leashed and not causing any kind of commotion and one was suddenly attacked by an unleashed dog. The older man came towards the road in awkwardness of what and apologized, ~~which I do doubt he was going to if he did not stand there.~~ I vaguely remember what he said, but I believe he said "I'm sorry, I saw what just happened. I don't know why she did that. Maybe it was because she was attacked when she was younger and now she doesn't ~~like~~ like other dogs anymore." Upon returning home, Coco, who would definitely greet you at the door. was hiding and shaking in fear.
