To whom it may concern,

I have known Nathan and Hank for many years. Not only is Hank extremely obedient, but he is also a loving companion and playmate for my grandchildren and children alike. We have been coming over to the house to see Hank, whether it be for a playdate with the kids, or to visit when Nathan is not home, throughout the time we have known them. We have many times been alone with Hank, and he has never been aggressive to me or my children and grandchildren. They play with him and there is no fear of allowing them to be with Hank.

I would wholeheartedly vouch that Hank is a great dog, and has never shown any aggression, and would never hurt me or my children, nor anyone else in any malicious way.
